City Overview

Dubrovnik is a city on the Adriatic Sea located in southern Croatia. Named "The Pearl of The Adriatic" by Lord Byron.

The city is well known for its magnificent Old Town that is encircled with massive stone walls completed in the 16th century.

Made even more famous by recently being cast as the stage for Kings Landing in Games of Thrones, the city is more popular than ever!
